

Just when they thought it was safe to leave the drive-in, the survivors of the Orbits weekly All Night Horror Show discover that their old world has been reduced to a single cracked highway surrounded on all sides by a prehistoric jungle filled with man-eating dinosaurs. For a while, Jack and his friends are content to make the best of life in the Stone Age“until they meet a sexy martial arts expert from Nacogdoches, Texas, named Grace who wants to find out whats at the end of the road. Now things really get weird as they encounter a town where public suicide is encouraged, a forest of old movie posters, movie mags, and carnivorous film, and Popalong Cassidy“a man-monster cowboy with a television head and a taste for human munchies“whose church of film and pain is presided over by the alien drive-in gods: the Producer and the Great Director. Even more outrageous than the horrifying original, The Drive-In 2 is a delightfully down-and-dirty romp through the dark backcountry of our own imagination, the kind of stuff that nightmares“and B movies“are made of it truly is not just another one of them sequels.

Consolidation of schools and public transportation of pupils, Great Teams: 16 Things High Performing Organizations Do Differently, Come Live With Me: A Memoir of Family, Alzheimers, and Hope, Tighter, Success Factors of Brand Extension in International Marketing, Unterwegs und Daheim: Reisebilder (German Edition),

While I think I prefer the maddening claustrophobia of the first Drive-In, this is “not just one of them sequels“• “The Drive-In 2 is a horrifying nightmare in its own. Just when they thought it was safe to leave the drive-in, the survivors of the Orbit's weekly All Night Horror Show discover that their old world.
